

Global Studies

A ½ credit social studies elective.

Global Studies course description

As we become more and more a global community, this course will give students a greater understanding of those who live as our neighbors near and far.

Global Studies course description

There will be an emphasis on human and physical geography to the extent that students will have a greater understanding of people, places and environments as relates to current history.

Global Studies course description

From a regional and topical approach, students will explore contemporary global issues and world events. Students will develop their skills in comprehending written materials, debating/defending a position, and analyzing and interpreting various forms of data (maps, charts, graphs, photos, etc.).

Global Studies

In this class students can expect to do a fair amount of reading, writing, and research. This class is not easy; your success depends upon your attention to class assignments, participation, respectful communication, and commitment. In this class you will find an outlet for your creativity and natural interest in the topics, but you will also be engaged in authentic academic endeavors that may challenge your abilities.

Global Studies

Is this the message we send to the world?
